

NEW CELIAC DISEASE STUDY

APPROVED: Jul 16, 2018
As is  Changes Noted
COPERNICUS GROUP IRB

Dr. Adams is looking for men and women with Celiac Disease that will volunteer to try testing new investigational medications to assess symptoms after a gluten food challenge.

To qualify you must:

- *Must be between the Age of 18-70
- *Have an Intolerance to Gluten
- *Must be medically diagnosed with Celiac Disease by biopsy with initiated gluten free diet 12 months ago
- *Must be willing to consume gluten protein in the study

You will need to undergo additional tests and procedures to see if you qualify for the study. This study is to evaluate an investigational medication to measure the limit of symptoms that causes the reaction before and after treatment.

As a qualified participant, you will receive all study-related care, study medication, monitoring devices at no cost to you. You may also be reimbursed for travel and other expenses.

For information, or to see if you qualify, contact AB Clinical Trials at 702-233-4700 or at emails rcabct@gmail.com or tcabct@gmail.com.